Application for AEA Faculty Development Grant for Assessment of Student Learning
2015/2016

Creating Changes in Faith Practices through THL 110

Abstract

This project proposes to use survey data to document changes in faith practices occurring during the semester when Creighton freshmen are enrolled in THL 110 - The Christian Tradition, Then and Now. Using data from four sections of THL 110, the investigators will identify students whose faith practices have changed while taking THL 110 and then will further survey those students to identify what curricular components influenced those changes in faith practices.

Submitted by
Max Engel, Ph.D., Resident Assistant Professor of Education and Theology
C. Timothy Dickel, Ed.D., Professor of Education