UPDATE ON SERVICE-LEARNING

FROM THE OFFICE OF ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND ASSESSMENT

September 2016

Contact Us

The Office of Academic Excellence and Assessment (AEA) is dedicated to Creighton University's commitment to excellence in teaching and student learning by offering faculty and staff the opportunity to:

*Imagine...*the Opportunities.
*Reflect...*on Best Practices.
*Collaborate...*with Campus Colleagues.
*Transform...*Student Learning.

Creighton University exists for students and learning. Faculty and staff pursue an excellence in teaching and student learning that extends beyond the brick and mortar of our classrooms into the communities in which we live, to include service learning.

PRESIDENT'S HONOR ROLL UPDATE

Creighton University has participated in the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll since it launched in 2006 and was recognized "With Distinction" in 2014 (previously 2007).

The 2015 submission status has been announced. Creighton University did receive recognition for the report which stated more than 1 million total student service hours for the reporting year (2013-2014). The actual number is 1,084,601 hours. The report shows that 4,520 Creighton students engaged in academic, co-curricular or community service; 65% (2,921) of Creighton students engaged in some form of academic service-learning and 3,571 students participated in more than 20 hours of service in a given semester.

The 2016 submission has yet to be announced. Creighton University reported more than 1.25 million total student service hours for the reporting year (2014-2015). The actual number is 1,338,234 hours. The report shows that 4,799 Creighton students engaged in academic, co-curricular or community service; 72% (3,470) of those Creighton students engaged in some form of academic service-learning and 3,736 students participated in more than 20 hours of service in a given semester.

and/or the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL).

Thank you to the many individuals from different offices, colleges and schools who helped compile the data for our submission to the President's Honor Roll for Community Service. For more information, contact Mary Ann Danielson at 402.280.2535.

PROGRAM SPOTLIGHT

Continuing our series highlighting the programs in which our students have participated in service, we feature the Global Connections and Engagement in Omaha and the School of Medicine's Magis Clinic.

Global Connections and Engagement in Omaha is a Creighton Global Initiative Project that offers a variety of volunteer opportunities with Lutheran Family Services of Nebraska (LFS) and their collaborators. On July 8, the Schlegel Center for Service and Justice launched their weekly program that also includes education and promotions components. As of mid-September, 40 members of the Creighton community have contributed 172 service hours towards refugee resettlement.

Creighton students, faculty and staff are invited to sign up for the Friday service projects to help prepare a refugee home. For more information. If you have questions, please contact Kelly Tadeo Orbik.

The School of Medicine's Magis Clinic is a student-led effort to provide free healthcare and referrals to existing community services. It is the only free medical clinic in Omaha open on Saturdays that treats homeless men, women, children and the medically uninsured. Since its inception in October 2004, the clinic has been dedicated to providing the standard of care to those they serve, cooperating with other healthcare providers, instilling in patients a sense of value for one's own health, and fostering in students a lifelong commitment to service. Creighton is a member of the Metropolitan-Area Coalition for Service-Learning (MACSL), along with representatives from the College of Saint Mary, Metropolitan Community College, Nebraska Methodist College, University of Nebraska at Omaha, University of Nebraska Medical Center and Iowa Western Community College.

The coalition seeks to: (1) increase collaboration and share selected service-learning programming among seven metro-area universities; (2) offer coordinated programming on a selected topic each semester; and (3) bring university and college resources together in educating students and the public about selected significant local, national and international issues.

Creighton University hosted the September meeting and is participating in the coalition's "Community Impact" survey project.

RECOMMENDED READING

The Journal of Service-Learning in Higher Education, Vol. 5, Issue 1, contains two articles of interest:

Fostering Student Credibility through Sustainable Engagement Initiatives: The Service-, Operative-, and Lecture-Learning \(SOLL\) Model multi-disciplinary programs are growing and serve an integral role in fostering knowledge transfer among disciplines and the community. The integrative framework of the SOLL model summarized is one way in which to meet the multi-disciplinary needs.

International Service-Learning: Common Goals and Issues Among Programs Across Disciplines article presents a review of twelve studies on the effectiveness of international service-learning projects. The findings suggest that programs set goals that are not always readily met, and therefore, a few recommendations have been made for improvement.

UPCOMING NEWS TO SHARE

SHARE YOUR NEWS

It is energizing to witness the students become "men and women for others" on their educational journey at Creighton University. To that, AEA would like to continue in the spirit, by inviting you to share information on service that will be taking place in your division/college/school during the spring 2016 semester, focusing on:

- campus events (are you hosting any campus event) which incorporates service-learning activity?

- course work (are you incorporating a service-learning event or activity to your fall schedule)
- recommended reading (any service-learning article that you've recently read that would benefit the Creighton community)
- upcoming conferences (any upcoming conference in your area related to service-learning?)
- community connections (any outside organization/non-profits you are working with on upcoming events which may need volunteers?)

To submit information or if you have questions, contact Mary Emmer at 402.280.1190.
