UPDATE ON SERVICE-LEARNING

FROM THE OFFICE OF ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND ASSESSMENT

SERVICE WITHIN OUR COMMUNITY: PROJECT HOMELESS CONNECT OMAHA

On any given night in the Omaha/Council Bluffs area, it is estimated there are approximately 1500 homeless in shelters and on the streets. Project Homeless Connect Omaha (PHCO) allows these individuals access to important services which improve their lives on the streets. The one-day event serves as a "one-stop shop," connecting homeless individuals to services including housing, healthcare, legal resources, Social Security, and food-stamp benefits.

Government agencies, non-profit agencies, local businesses, volunteer groups, medical providers, legal experts and many other service providers come together in Creighton University's Kiewit Fitness Center to offer on-site immediate assistance to individuals, families, seniors, veterans and youth who find themselves homeless. Consider volunteering your time and talent to aid in support of the area's homeless at the annual Project Homeless Connect Omaha on Friday, March 31; 8:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.; Skutt Student Center. More information. | To volunteer.

CORPORATION FOR NATIONAL & COMMUNITY SERVICE UPDATES

VOLUNTEERING AND CIVIC LIFE IN AMERICA AND NEBRASKA

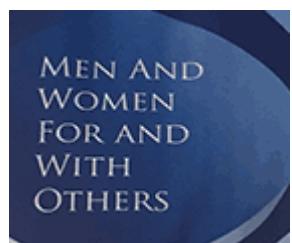

The Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) recently issued the following reports on volunteering and service. The Volunteering and Civic Life in America annual research report shows that volunteering and civic engagement are the cornerstone of a strong nation, across generations, enriching both our communities and those who serve.

Americans continued to strengthen their communities through volunteering. Explore trends and highlights, state and city rankings, or demographic profiles to learn more about the report.

PROGRAM SPOTLIGHT

Continuing our series highlighting the programs in which our students have participated in service, we feature the Youth Leadership Omaha and the ILAC Water Quality programs.

Youth Leadership Omaha, sponsored by the Heider College of Business, is an interactive leadership development program which informs, motivates and increases the leadership awareness of selected high school sophomores through issue-oriented seminars and interaction with community decision-makers. The program's outcome is an investment in the Omaha community's future leadership. Contact Charisse Williams for additional information or questions regarding the program.

The Institute for Latin American Concern \(ILAC\) hosts the Water Quality Program, where students spend time visiting rural campos to analyze water samples and correct problems with their filters. Following the analysis, students return to the campo to explain the results and educate the Dominicans about correct usage and maintenance habits. By working with the Dominicans, this program has the ability to impact the current and future health of rural communities.

The students' experience is about serving within the community and creating a shared sense of dignity and accomplishment. View ILAC video. For more information contact: Gary Michels, Ph.D., Chemistry Department.

RECOMMENDED READING

Service-Learning as Independent Course: Merits, Challenges, and Ways Forward, provides information on a case study report with particular emphasis on the course development process of service-learning as an independent course. The lessons learned from the study specifically help to inform the course design and improve the quality of service-learning courses and programs in higher education in general.
