Memo:

It is always fun to introduce the children to popular authors. This week we will read the Leo Lionni books. The story about the mouse, Fredrick, provides opportunities to talk about friendships, color words and rhyming words. The story A Busy Year will encourage the children to recall the seasons and types of weather and to practice naming the months of the year. The story about Alexander and the wind up toy will again explore friendships. The art work will be used as a spring board for creative art lessons. The story The Biggest House in the World teaches children to be satisfied with their size and with what they possess.

We will use a variety of materials to create texture art. We will use small shells, fabric and paper scraps to create story related art.
