Klutznick-Harris Symposium Presenters

October 27-28, 2013

Meir Bar-Ilan
Bari Ilan University

“Wealth in the World of the Sages: Why were Korah and Moses Rich People?”

Lawrence Baron
San Diego State University

“Empty Hearts and Full Wallets: Poverty and Wealth in American Jewish Films, 1921-1932”

Geoffrey Claussen
Elon University

“The Kelm School of Musar and its Legacy on Questions of Work, Wealth, and Poverty”

Aryeh Cohen
American Jewish University

“The Violence of Poverty”
Hasia Diner
New York University

“Peddlers, the Great Jewish Migration, and the Riddle of Economic Success”

Gregg E. Gardner
University of British Columbia

“Care for the Poor and the Origins of Charity in Early Rabbinic Judaism”

Rela Mintz Geffen
Gratz College and Towson University

“The Financial and Scholarly Interlocking Directorate in American Jewish Life”

Alyssa M. Gray
Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion

“Wealth and the Rabbis of Late Antiquity”

Jeffrey Haus
Kalamazoo College

“Conspicuous Charity and Jewish Unity: The Jewish Loterie in Nineteenth-century Paris”
Leonard Helfgott
Western Washington University
“Crossing Over: Class, Race, and Ethnicity in the Baltimore films of Barry Levinson”

Curtis Hutt
University of Nebraska-Omaha
"1Q/4QInstruction: Training for a Money-changer?"

Julia R Lieberman
St Louis University
“Charity and Benevolence at the London Saar aSamaim Sephardi Community in the Eighteenth Century”

Gil Ribak
American Jewish University
“Getting Drunk, Dancing, and Beating Each Other Up: The Images of the Gentile Poor and Narratives of Jewish Difference among the Yiddish Intelligentsia, 1881-1914”
Yehuda Seif
University of Pennsylvania

“Justice and Righteousness: Philosophical Implications of Jewish and Christian Approaches to Charity and Poor Law in the High Middle Ages”