Photography, dance company top Fine Arts season bill

"Faces: An exhibition from the Hallmark Photographic Collection" and the Glenn-Lund Dance Company top the bill of the Fine and Performing Arts Fall season. "Faces" will be on display in the Fine Arts Gallery, room 212 in the Fine Arts Building, through Sept. 28. The exhibition includes 50 prints by 30 artists, spanning the last 80 years of photographic art. "While 'Faces' concentrates on the expressive power of the human countenance," said Fine Arts promotional coordinator Dave Dechant, "it also uses this theme to explore some of the more important historical and stylistic concepts in the development of the 20th century photography."

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday; Sundays from noon to 4 p.m. Admission is free.

The Glenn-Lund Dance Company will perform Sept. 13 at 8 p.m. and Sept. 14 at 2:30 p.m. at the Performing Arts Center located at 30th and Burt streets. The seven-member company will conduct master classes while in residence at Creighton through Sept. 14. The internationally acclaimed dancers maintain an active repertoire of over 15 original works choreographed by Laura Glenn and Gary Lund.

Recent clay ceramic works by faculty member and nationally recognized artist, Jerry Horning will be on exhibition Oct. 1-26 in the Fine Arts Gallery. A public reception is planned for opening night at 8 p.m. in the gallery. Mr. Horning will speak Oct. 4 at 2 p.m. also in the gallery.

Director Alan Klem will present "The Elephant Man" Oct. 2, 3, 4, 9, 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. and Oct. 5 and 12 at 2:30 p.m. at the PAC building. The Bernard Pomerance play is based on the life of John Merrick, a deformed young man who, once a freak in traveling side-shows, becomes a man questioning the grotesque nature of the society that has abandoned him.

Creighton's resident dance troupe, A Company of Dancers, will perform works from their repertoire on Nov. 5, 8, 7 and 8 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 9 at 2:30 p.m. at the PAC building.

The Semis Project, an exhibition of paintings, prints, photographs and sculptures, will be exhibited Nov. 19 - Dec. 14 with a reception opening night at 8 p.m. and a gallery talk on Nov. 22 at 2 p.m.

An evening of one-act plays directed and performed by Creighton students will be presented at the PAC building on Nov. 20, 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. Auditions are Oct. 20-21 at 7 p.m. also at the PAC building.

The season will close with a Christmas Concert by the Creighton University Chamber Choir, Chorus, and Concert Band on December 7 at 2 p.m. at St. John's Church. A program of both classical and popular Christmas music is planned along with a public reception in Lower St. John's following the performance.
