Three contemporary works and one beloved classic will comprise the program for a Company of Dancers Fall Concert. The concert will take place Nov. 17-20 at the Creighton Interim Performing Arts Center.

"Peter and the Wolf" is a Russian tale of a young boy's efforts to defend his friends from a hungry wolf.

The tale will be depicted through the dramatic movements of eight dancers as choreographed by Valerie Roche, associate professor of dance in the fine and performing arts department.

"Shadow Tracings," choreographed by Lynn Wenning Banka, assistant professor of dance consists of a trio of female dancers who embark on a long journey into a new world to explore its possibilities.

A second piece by Banke, a nonsensical look at the world of flight through dance, will also be performed.

Music by Windham Hill artist George Winston will accompany "Digressions," a modern dance choreographed for five women by Cynthia Snyder.

"Digressions" was chosen for presentation at the American College Dance Festival in Washington, D.C. in 1985.

A Company of Dancers Fall Concert will be held Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. A Sunday matinee on Nov. 20 will be held at 2:30 p.m. General admission is $5.00 and tickets for students and senior citizens are $3.00.
