Company of Dancers to perform

A Company of Dancers will present a concert of classical, modern, and jazz dance works Thursday through Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 6 at 2:30 p.m. The performance will be held at Creighton's Interim Performing Arts Center, 30th and Burt Streets.

Artistic director of the company is Valerie Roche, associate professor of dance. Roche is creating two new works; "Games 'n' Such," a sporting piece involving a baseball game and a group of girls at play, and "Butterflies," a classical ballet depicting the fragile, ever changing impermanence of butterflies and their similarity to young women's lives.

Roche will be joined by guest choreographer Jeff Bickford from Seattle. Bickford is currently doing a residency in Omaha which is being supported by Dance Theater of Omaha and the Nebraska Arts Council. He is working with Creighton students as well as dancers from the community and will be presenting a new work titled, "Susie, the Boxer," and using the "10,000 Years War," a residually "post-punk" piece set on five dancers, and using text, movement and sound.

The third choreographer is Patrick Roddy, instructor of dance at Creighton University. He will present a new jazz work titled, "Opus Jazz." Mr. Roddy is using music from Robert Prince's "N.Y. Export: Op. Jazz," originally created for Jerome Robbins' Ballet U.S.A. Company.

Ticket prices are $7 for general public and $5 for students and senior citizens. For further information and reservations call 280-2509.
