If this is a new course, briefly explain how it fits into your department’s curriculum. (This should include, but not be limited to, information such as if the course is required or will serve as an elective for a major, how often you anticipate that it will be offered, and if it replaces a course that is currently listed in the bulletin.)

This course is an alternate path to SPN 202. It is intended to offer students an additional track to develop their language proficiency by focusing on basic composition and the fundamentals of the culture and civilization of Spain and Spanish America, as opposed to the traditional grammatical focus of SPN 202. In this way, it complements SPN 202 and adds flexibility to student choices and diversity to the curriculum. It will be offered every semester or at least once a year.

Please attach a syllabus of the course.

The syllabus must include the following items in any order.

1. Course description
2. Course objectives
3. List of course topics
4. Course requirements
5. Grading criteria (including penalties)
6. Attendance Policy
7. Academic Honesty statement
8. Class cancellation policy
