

Virtual World Project

Faculty Mentor: Professor Ronald Simkins, Theology Department

Area of Research: History, Archaeology, Biblical Studies, Digital Humanities, Graphic Design

Expected Duration: Flexible, but at least a semester or summer

Majors: Any

Eligibility: Students of any major who have a solid academic record of a 3.0 QPA or better, and are interested in the ancient world of Israel and Jordan.

Project Details: Students will research and contribute to the Virtual World Project (virtualworldproject.org), depending on their interest and expertise. The Virtual World Project presents interactive virtual tours of archaeological sites in Israel and Jordan, and is designed to aid in the teaching and study of antiquity. Research will include interpreting the material remains of ancient sites and incorporating such interpretations into the project. Research may include design and enhancement of the project.

Number of Positions: 1-2

Contact: Professor Ronald Simkins: rsmkns@creighton.edu