CAREER OUTLOOK

Large and small companies search for employees who understand global business and can successfully operate in the international marketplace. As companies expand their business activities around the world, they seek people who combine the possession of solid business skills, expertise in solving global business problems, an awareness and understanding of different cultures, and—in some cases—a working ability in a second language.

International Business graduate sample size is too low to share median salary data.

CAREER ASSISTANCE

The Heider College of Business at Creighton gives you the chance to test your skills in the real world through its premier internship programs. The Creighton Career Center works closely with students to assist them in finding full-time positions in which to utilize their knowledge to work after graduation.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

PAID INTERNSHIPS

You will have access to thousands of paid internship and job opportunities through Handshake, as there are more opportunities available to Creighton students than students to fill them.

STUDY ABROAD

Nothing prepares you for a career in international business like living and learning abroad. While the program requires a semester of study abroad, there are also opportunities to travel to other locations for a shorter time period, including South Africa, Australia and China. Wherever you choose to go, you'll gain additional expertise in a foreign language, while exploring the economic and cultural fabric of another country.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

International Relations Club

In addition to sponsoring speakers and crisis simulations on campus, our International Relations Club is also known for its ability to field award-winning delegations to model United Nations Conferences across the country and around the world.

Model United Nations

Hone your skills in diplomacy, negotiations, critical thinking, compromise, public speaking, writing and research as a member of Model United Nations. Our New York conferences culminate at United Nations Headquarters, with thousands of students in attendance.
