Code of Conduct

The goal of the 2010 Creighton University EMS Education ALS/BLS Competition is to create a series of experiences that will prepare emergency care responders for the tasks and technologies that await them in the next century. We will train ourselves in new techniques that were once thought to be limited to specialist physicians. We will share the combined experiences of emergency personnel from all over the world. We want to train the intellectual and technological leaders of today and the future. We want you to be smart, aggressive and on the cutting edge of emergency medical care.

The 2010 Creighton University EMS Education ALS/BLS Competition will enforce this “Code of Behavior.” CU EMS Education does not wish to be in the business of policing the behavior of adults or limiting the “fun” anyone has at this meeting of peers. We will do what is necessary to protect the experience of the majority of participants from the behavior of a small minority.

All participants of the 2010 Creighton University EMS Education ALS/BLS Competition will adhere to the following:

Team Responsibilities

1. You will be personally responsible for the behavior of members from your service. If any member of a competing team is asked to leave for aggressive or disorderly behavior by the Creighton staff, then that entire team will be asked to leave. The team will be disqualified from the competition and all competition awards and CE's. Your team will also forfeit all registration fees.
2. You will be personally responsible for the behavior of any guest you bring to the Creighton University EMS Education ALS/BLS Competition.
3. You will be personally responsible for your individual behavior within socially acceptable parameters. There will be no acts of vandalism or assault tolerated.

The personnel below have read and understand this Code of Conduct and are fully prepared to abide by its intent and the decisions of Creighton University EMS Education ALS/BLS Competition administrative staff.
