

International relations (INR)

Program Goals

Creighton University's Master of Arts in International Relations is an interdisciplinary degree designed for those seeking advancement or entry into intelligence, the military, foreign service, journalism, non-governmental organizations, and international business. The degree also lays the foundation for further graduate program in international relations. Upon completion of the graduate program, the student will:

1. Demonstrate mastery of the scholarly literature in two of the program's sub-disciplines (American diplomatic history, comparative politics, international economics, and international politics).
2. Exhibit effective written communication skills.
3. Be competitive in their chosen professions.
4. Demonstrate effective interpersonal communication and collaborative skills.
