Program Goals

At the completion of this graduate program, students will:

1. Have a good grounding in the Humanities broadly conceived. They will have an integrated knowledge and understanding of different Humanities perspectives and approaches.
2. Be capable of intelligent and well-argued analyses of specific themes and problems in the Humanities field. They will be able to formulate and investigate a particular issue of their own in some depth.
3. Experience the relationship of the Humanities to broader questions of value (including morality and faith). They will reflectively integrate what they learn into the practice of their own lives. They will work with faculty and fellow students to create a community of learners.
