Health Sciences Library Launches New Website

On February 22nd, the Health Sciences Library / Learning Resources Center launched its new website. We are very excited about this development and hope you find the new site easier to use. Please visit the the HSL at http://hsl.creighton.edu

Visitors to the new website will notice some significant improvements. The Resource listings now have a disciplinary focus. Simply click on the Resources link, select your discipline, and you have immediate access to some of the key resources in your field. Also, note the Quick Link gray tabs on every web page. The Quick Links guide the user to some of our core resources – the online catalog (CLIC), electronic journals (ejournals), Medline, CINAHL, RefWorks, and the Learning Resources Center.

We value your input and feedback. Click on the Contact Us link in the bottom black bar and let us know what you think.

Café A La Cart: Coffee Shop Now Open in The Health Sciences Library

The Health Sciences Library’s full-service coffee shop is now open for business. With an official opening on January 8th, Café A La Cart features sandwiches, salads, soups, pastries, and, of course, a wide selection of beverages – coffees, teas, bottled juice, milk, and energy drinks.

In addition, a microwave oven is available for those who prefer a hot sandwich or a bag of popcorn.

If you don’t have time to pull up a chair and enjoy your meal at Café A La Cart, the coffee shop also features traditional “on-the-go” fare, such as candy bars and bags of chips.

If you’re on the west side of campus, stop in and check it out! Located on the second floor of the Bio-Information Center, Café A La Cart boasts evening and weekend hours as well as daytime hours.

Stop by and try it!!

Highlighted Resources

- A new Heart Sounds Resource Listing has been created for your convenience. See the recent round-up of heart sound resources by going to Info To Go (under LRC Quick Picks) on the LRC web site (http://newadonis.creighton.edu/HSL/lrc/infotogo/infotogo.html). Once at this page, simply scroll down and click on Heart Sounds.

- New Exhibits Stations in the LRC are providing LRC clients with quick video clips of the latest resources – clients may now view an increasing number of Wired.MD video clips on our updated 20 inch monitor. Also, you may view demonstrations of new DVD programs featured at the LRC Services Desk.

- Using NCME programs and PULSE programs just got easier. Enjoy using DVD format for both Network for Continuing Education programs and for PULSE, the first responder emergency training programs. These resources are timely, current, and hold excellent programming information for health sciences teaching and learning.

- Needing information on the signs, symptoms, and physiology of schizophrenia, bipolar disorders, depression, or anxiety disorders, including OCD and panic disorder? Check out the new Concept Media DVD series entitled Psychotropic Medications with the call numbers of VC 5019 through VC 5023.

Now Hear This! LRC offers “Patients” . . . Heart Sounds from Real Patients – use your own stethoscope, computer, or iPod . . . courtesy of Francis Andries and your LRC

- Do you ever want to practice your stethoscope skills but hate the hassle of rounding up a patient? And where do you find a patient with a systolic murmur when you need one? Now you can use your stethoscope to listen to heart sounds from your computer to become expert at auscultation.

- For further information, visit http://andries.com or contact Jane Romack (jromack@creighton.edu or 280-5130) in the Health Sciences Library to learn more about borrowing “The Patient” from your LRC.

Customized Bibliographies

Do you need a special listing of LRC multimedia resources tailored just for you? Just contact the LRC at 280-5130 and customized bibliographies will be created for you.
Library Implements Liaison Program

The staff of the Health Sciences Library/Learning Resources Center has always prided itself in providing outstanding service and communication to our primary clients: the faculty, staff, and students of the health science programs at Creighton University. To continue to build upon that excellent service, we are implementing a library liaison program. This program is not intended to replace any established lines of communication; rather it is to complement existing communication patterns.

The intention of the library liaison program is to provide faculty, staff, and students with a contact person in the library. They may call upon the liaison for information about any library service, resource, or issue. The liaison’s primary role is to foster two-way communication between the library and the school. The liaison is expected to understand the information needs of his or her school as clearly as possible, and to represent those needs within the library. Liaisons are knowledgeable about library resources and services and will be able to represent these effectively to their contacts.

We are excited to be offering this personalized service to you and your faculty. On page 4 is a list of departments/divisions within the health science schools and their respective liaison from the Health Sciences Library/Learning Resources Center. If you do not see your area listed on that page or have other questions, please contact Jim Bothmer, Health Sciences Library Director, at 280-5120 or jbothmer@creighton.edu.

JOURNAL SUBSCRIPTION CHANGES FOR 2007

For 2007, the Creighton University Health Sciences Library has added several new subscriptions.

Archives of Facial Plastic Surgery (AMA) was added in print with online access. We now subscribe to all the AMA’s Archives journals. Online access is by password, with up to three simultaneous users. Call the Reference department, 280-5138, for login information.

These new journals are online only:
- Cell and Tissue Banking
- Critical Reviews in Neurobiology
- Dental Traumatology
- Human Factors
- Journal of Nursing Scholarship
- International Endodontic Journal
- International Journal of Nursing Education Scholarship
- International Journal of Biostatistics
- Statistical Applications in Genetics and Molecular Biology

The following seven titles were added to our Science Direct subscription.

- Journals:
  - Advances in Pediatrics
  - AORN Journal
  - Behavior Therapy
  - Journal of Endodontics
  - Journal of Hand Therapy
- Books:
  - Side Effects of Drugs Annual
  - Meyler’s Side Effects of Drugs

In addition to these individual subscriptions, the Health Sciences Library has subscribed to several online journal packages and has dropped print subscriptions for most of the titles in those packages.

- BMJ Journals Collection.
  Current issues of all 25 titles are accessible

- Journals @ Ovid.
  - LWW Total Access Collection includes 252 titles.
  - ADIS International Collection includes 21 titles.

- Nature Publishing Group.
  The Health Sciences Library has online-only subscriptions to 13 titles, plus News@Nature. The Reinert-Alumni Library (RAL) subscribes to other Nature titles. Both libraries’ subscriptions are accessible to all CU students and staff online.

- Thieme Medical Package
  Includes 28 journals in English and 76 in German.

- Wiley InterScience
  Through the Greater Western Library Alliance (GWLA) consortium, HSL and RAL have subscribed to 389 active and 79 ceased titles published by Wiley.

Detailed title lists for these packages can be seen at http://newadonis.creighton.edu/HSL/Ejournals/journal_changes_2007.html. Links to the journals are provided through the A to Z journal list of the Creighton libraries.

The Health Sciences Library will continue to convert more journals to online access, which will usually require the cancellation of the corresponding print subscriptions. As the budget allows we will add more online access to back volumes.

Requests for new journal subscriptions may be submitted at any time, but the Health Sciences Library normally considers new requests and existing subscriptions in light of several factors in September and October, and begins new subscriptions at the beginning of each calendar year.

For comments, suggestions, and troubleshooting of online journal access, contact Bryan Stack, Serials and Electronic Collections Librarian, at 280-5137 or cuhsl-serials@creighton.edu.
