Printing and Copying

Two copy machines are located on the first floor. Computer printouts can be retrieved at stations located near the Service Desk and on the second floor near the computers outside the computer lab. Pull and Copy service is available for a fee for CU faculty, staff, students, and alumni. Forms are available at the Service Desk and on the library's web site under Services/Request Materials.

Creighton Library Information Catalog (CLIC)

CLIC is the Creighton University Libraries' online computerized catalog of books, journals, multimedia materials, and electronic resources available at all three of the University libraries. To access the catalog go to the HSL homepage (<http://hsl.creighton.edu>) and select the gray Catalog tab.

National Network of Libraries of Medicine

280-4156

The National Network of Libraries of Medicine (NN/LM)-Midcontinental Region has an office in the Health Sciences Library. The NN/LM liaison focuses on health concerns of inner city and underrepresented minority populations in Nebraska and bordering states. The liaison supports the research of faculty and students and Creighton as they find ways to help eliminate health disparities in this country.
