

AADVANTAGE® GLOBAL SCHOLARS TRAVEL GRANT

CONCEPT

American Airlines has partnered with the Creighton Global Initiative (CGI) to enable Creighton scholars (faculty, staff or students) to conduct or present their research at national or international meetings. American Airlines will invest one million AAdvantage® miles to support scholars' travel throughout the world.

PRIORITIES

The AAdvantage® Global Scholars Travel Grant program will give priority to (a) presentation of outcomes of funded CGI projects; (b) presentation of any research in a global forum; and (c) research that supports the following areas of interest:

1. Special focus on pressing global issues, such as migration, refugees, climate change, disease, hunger, gender equality, the use of natural resources, among others. The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals provide an exemplar framework of the types of issues this CGI area of interest would address from an interdisciplinary / interprofessional perspective.
2. Academic enhancement, curricular development or research on global learning. This includes work designed to prepare students for lives of informed contribution in a rapidly changing global society. Examples include institutional partnerships and innovative academic, experiential and co-curricular programming set in various global contexts where students learn to think critically, observe skillfully, reflect thoroughly and participate meaningfully. The Association of American Colleges & Universities' Global Learning Outcomes provide an exemplar of the types of outcomes this area of interest might include.
3. The cultivation of a globally conversant campus for work that encourages the appreciation, analysis and discussion of multicultural realities, expressions of diversity, inclusion, justice, and calls for action. Work that has served to deepen Creighton University's identity as a place where we seek understanding of the intersections between our lives and global issues, as well as to mature our sense of responsibility as local and global citizens will be favorably reviewed for an AAdvantage® Global Scholars Travel Grant program.
4. Impact on Omaha, where the study of "the global becomes local" in an effort to further understand and engage our neighborhoods, local schools and businesses. These projects help us to more clearly understand how global events and trends express themselves in the lives of people in Omaha.
5. International immersion and study abroad outcomes that integrate Ignatian formation as part of the experiential / immersion program. Outcomes research related to various forms of study abroad or international education collaborations that explicitly seek to leave the world a saner, stronger, and more sustainable place will be favorably reviewed for an AAdvantage® Global Scholars Travel Grant program.
