Creighton Preparatory School is a private Jesuit high school with an enrollment of 1021 boys grades 9 to 12. The school was founded as Creighton School in 1876. The mission of Creighton Prep is to inspire and help young men develop themselves as leaders in service to others through a Catholic, college preparatory educational program in the Jesuit tradition.

The Jesuit Middle School of Omaha offers the young males of Omaha, particularly African Americans, a quality educational opportunity, encouraging them to claim ownership of their lives and develop themselves as responsible leaders. The training in this Catholic school includes five basics of traditional Jesuit education: gospel values, service to others, good study habits, solid discipline and academic excellence. The Jesuit Middle School of Omaha prepares its graduates academically, socially, and spiritually for acceptance into a college preparatory curriculum.

The Purpose
“To strengthen the relationship between Omaha’s Jesuit Institutions of Learning and the community while fulfilling the continuing financial needs of the Jesuit Middle School”

CREIGHTON STUDENTS UNION

The Creighton Students Union, the Creighton University student government, is organized for public and charitable purposes and operates as an integral part of Creighton University. The objective of the Creighton Students Union is to further the best interests of Creighton University and its students by representing the opinions and wishes of the students to the University and to the communities outside the University by supporting student organizations that program student activities; and supporting the Jesuit mission of education, service, and the development of the whole person.

About the Jesuit Middle School

JayWalk serves to provide for the financial needs of the students striving for Magis or “More”. The Jesuit Middle School of Omaha exists to provide young male students with a quality environment for growth as students, community leaders, and children of God. It lives out the Jesuit value of Men and Women for and with Others, as it helps to educate students from impoverished backgrounds who otherwise would not be able to have such an education.

JayWalk strives to involve the developing minds of these young leaders as Men for and with Others. As a preparatory school for the college level, these men are taught to value the gift of service and community building. By assisting in the planning of such a massive event with student leaders on a university level, the benefits for both sides are innumerable.

For Creighton Prep High School

JayWalk aims to engage students at all levels to reflect on the importance of giving back to the community. With the rapid changes of campus life, students understand it is a time of development and growth here at Creighton. JayWalk provides opportunities for various departments, students, and staff to take part in this endeavor and work together to raise money for a worthy cause and to help foster a relationship among the schools, students, faculty, and staff.
