PURPOSE: To define the purpose and mission of the Harper Center for Student Life and Learning

SOURCE: Creighton University Administration

POLICY: Creighton University fosters an environment which promotes respect and service to all peoples, values diversity and upholds the ideals of Jesuit education. To this means the Harper center for Student Life and Learning acts as a laboratory linking the educational process with social encounters; wellness of the body; and renders vitals services.

It serves as a primary conference center for the campus and provides vibrant and relevant services, conveniences and amenities which are used in the daily campus life to support the mission of the University. In doing so, it seeks to effectively manage its facilities and services and be responsive to the changing needs of the campus population.
