TAYLOR KASHIWABARA

...I was stepping into the unknown, and it made me both excited and nervous. However with every patient visit, I began to see the various seasons of faith and life unfold in each person, and I was taken aback by the beauty. continue reading...

PATRICK DOUGHERTY

For me, college moves a mile a minute. I feel fortunate my Creighton experience has been full of opportunities to grow and learn, but it has made me resistant to slow down and grasp what is going on around me. It's a weird, mixed feeling, where I want to be a part of everything but know that I have a limited time continue reading...

Interfaith Prayer Lifts Us

Bells of various tones lingered as sage infused the air.

Sacred words of reconciliation and healing wove their way around us as we lifted our hands and bowed our heads.

Candles were lit, the light was shared, and, in harmony, we raised that light heavenward...

The annual Interfaith Prayer Service was held Wednesday, Feb. 6. The service once again provided the Creighton community the opportunity to experience a meaningful and powerful atmosphere of blending the many faiths and cultures of our students. The theme of this year was "Reconciliation: Healing, Justice, Harmony". The students that shared their faith traditions and helped coordinate the service are a part of the Interfaith Core Team at Campus Ministry.

The team will be hosting other events this year and continue to share the diverse cultural and faith backgrounds of Creighton's students. If you would like more information on these programs, please contact Beth Samson@creighton.edu.
