

Quinn Receives Creighton University College of Business Alumni Merit Award

Ronald N. Quinn, BSBA '70, MBA '76, received the Creighton College of Arts and Sciences Alumni Merit Award at the University's annual Alumni Weekend on Sept. 21 in Omaha.

Quinn graduated from Creighton in 1970 with a degree in accounting and finance, then returned to receive his master's degree in 1976. Quinn currently serves as the executive vice president and secretary for Tenaska, Inc., an energy company recently ranked 25th on the Forbes list of largest privately held companies.

Tenaska is an energy company engaged in building, owning, and operating electric generating facilities, natural gas exploration and production and management of private equity funds to invest in energy assets. Over the years Quinn has lead Tenaska to become a corporate culture based in moral responsibility and personal accountability. Today Tenaska holds a reputation as one of the most widely respected energy companies in North America.

Quinn serves on a regional advisory board for FM Global, a global property insurance carrier, and has served on the boards of the Greater Omaha Chamber of Commerce, the Omaha Business Ethics Alliance, and the Halo Institute, a joint business development effort with Creighton's College of Business. He has also served on Creighton's Parent Council and the boards of many non-profit groups including Duchesne Academy, Creighton Preparatory School, St. Robert Bellarmine Church and Catholic Charities.
