Reinert~Alumni Library

Ratio Studiorum Program

The Library is an integral part of the culture of collegiate life. We can provide students in RSP their first exposure to information literacy at the college level. Specifically, we address the skills and attitudes fundamental to the responsible use of information, with emphasis on the discovery, evaluation, and proper documentation of sources.

Please contact a member of the Research Center team at left for more information. LEO and Library Live are designed as a two-part sequence, but can also stand alone.

Library Encounter Online (LEO)

- Information Literacy Concepts

New for fall 2014, the Library Encounter Online (LEO) is a self-paced tutorial in BlueLine that students can complete outside of class in less than an hour. LEO emphasizes concepts rather than methodology. It covers the research process, library discovery tools, information formats, evaluation criteria, and academic honesty.

Library Live

- Information Literacy in Practice

Library Live is a one-hour class for RSP students led by a Reference Librarian. This session builds on LEO’s foundation with an interactive presentation and hands-on exercise. Students will learn how to find, evaluate and use information sources effectively. Library Live can be tailored to fit any theme or subject of your choosing.

CCAS Learning Outcome 2.1.1:

“Students will develop the basic skills of information literacy, including searching for information, critically evaluating information from sources, and appropriately using and citing information.”
