Collaborative Curriculum (re)Construction: Continuing Collaborative (re)Construction of EDU 210

Abstract

This project continues work begun in the fall of 2014 in the AEA's Collaborative Curriculum (re)Construction workgroup. The PI (faculty member) and Co-PI (student) will work on the (re)construction of EDU 210 – Child and Adolescent Development to make it more engaging for those students enrolled in the course. Information will be gathered from those students in the fall 2014 section and from those in the spring 2015 section with attention to what they believe will make the course more engaging. The PI and Co-PI will then create ways to engage students in the fall 2015 section that will be a part of the Magis Core as an Explorations: Understanding Social Sciences course.

Investigators

C. Timothy Dickel, Ed.D., Principal Investigator
Education Department
Creighton University
402-280-2230
ctdickel@creighton.edu

Christine Gonderinger, Co-Principal Investigator Junior, Math/Secondary Education Student, Creighton College of Arts and Sciences christinegonderigner@creighton.edu