Creighton University has a Mission Statement that includes a number of Core Values that we, as a member of the campus community, subscribe to. The recent efforts of moving forward with the School of Dentistry project, Magis (more or better), has come into focus. Utilizing the value, “Men and Women for Others”, Creighton University has taken steps to put into action several of the Mission Statement pillars. One that I wanted to write about today is assuring Economic Inclusion efforts that reflect our Mission.

As Creighton University moved forward with issuing Request for Qualification/Proposals we had a goal of making it clear to each of the respondents (General Contractors) that we wanted to expand on our efforts towards economic inclusion of local small and emerging businesses. To that end, each respondent was asked to describe past efforts, successes, lessons learned, and approach proposed for the School of Dentistry project. Specifically, each response was required to include a description of their approach to maximize economic inclusion and provide examples from previous efforts/projects.

The School of Dentistry project was a highly sought after project and Creighton University received a number of qualified responses from local and regional firms. Below is an example of a response (paraphrased for this newsletter), which provides an illustration of proposals received.

- Provide a plan to develop a project specific plan that was reviewed and authorized by Creighton University
- Identify segments of the project and work with the project architect to develop bid packages that will encourage bidding by local small and emerging businesses
- Solicit and utilize through informational meeting, the project scope and opportunities available
- Outreach to City in order to identify qualified Small and Emerging business entities
- Provide examples of recent project that have had success identifying and utilizing Small and Emerging businesses

I am happy to announce that, even though the project has just begun, we have realized tremendous, verifiable, and documented success towards our Economic Inclusion efforts. The success doesn’t end with the School of Dentistry project. This effort was designed from the beginning to develop relationships with qualified resources that can help Creighton University build on its continual need for skilled craft trades as the campus continues to maintain, remodel, and build facilities into the future.

As “Men and Women for Others” our Core beliefs includes service to others, the importance of family life, the inalienable worth of each individual, and appreciation of ethnic and cultural diversity as core values. Continuing to build on these appreciations will benefit all of us.

January 12, 2017

Dear Faculty and Staff,

Happy New Year, and welcome back for the start of a new semester. I hope you enjoyed a wonderful and restful Christmas season with family and friends.

Today, I am pleased to announce that two senior leadership positions at Creighton have been filled.

John Nisbet, who is currently the chief administrative officer in the College of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University (OSU), has accepted our offer to become the University’s vice president for Finance effective Feb. 6.

At OSU, John provides college-wide leadership for all administrative operations, finance and accounting, procurement, human resources, IT operations, business intelligence and data analytics, and audit and risk management. He also led the development and implementation of a five-year financial plan for the college, which serves 20,000 students at OSU.

In total, John has nearly 20 years of progressive senior management experience in higher education and health care, including at the University of Miami School of Medicine. He earned his MBA in finance and BS in zoology at Ohio State, and an MS in molecular and cellular physiology from the University of Cincinnati. John and his wife, Julie, have two children – Olivia (12) and Jack (11).

Regarding the vice president for University Relations search, I am very happy to welcome back Matt Gerard, who left Creighton in early 2016 to become vice president of development at Children International in Kansas City. Matt’s appointment is effective Feb. 8.

Many of you know Matt from his 11 years in development roles at the University, including his most recent position of assistant vice president for principal gifts. He established many wonderful connections with alumni, Omaha’s generous philanthropic community of foundations and corporations, and other friends of Creighton during his time here, and I am excited about the leadership experience he brings to University Relations and as a member of my cabinet.

Matt is a native of Omaha, and earned his MEd from the University of Oregon and his bachelor’s degree from the University of Iowa. Matt and his wife, Melissa, have three children – Jack (12), Cecilia (10), and Joey (8).

Thank you to everyone who served on search committees for the two positions. I look forward to welcoming John and Matt to our campus community.

As many of you have already experienced, the long-anticipated launch of the new myHR system occurred on schedule Jan. 1. The flexibility provided by the new online record management system is a vast improvement over previous methods for tracking important payroll-related information and other records.

I am grateful for the work performed by individuals in several departments for more than a year, including Human Resources and the Department of Information Technology, just to name two. Many people worked during the break to ensure the system would be ready when you returned to campus.

With the arrival of 2017, we have begun our move into the new medical center campus at 24th and Cuming streets. An exciting part of this new facility is the incorporation of the Center for Interprofessional Practice, Education and Research (CIPER) concept. The new facility will serve as a hub for interprofessional education and collaborative clinical practice.

Creighton is a national leader for this new model of health care, which focuses on a team-based approach to improving patient outcomes. As we pioneer academic and clinical efforts, and more prominently position the University, we also – and more significantly – promise to serve and prepare our students well for the changing health care environment.

As CIPER and opportunities to expand our health science programs in Phoenix are important components of a new strategic plan, so too are other initiatives related to our working, learning, and living at Creighton. At convocation with you on Tuesday, Feb. 7, at 3:30 p.m., I look forward to discussing many aspects of our new and evolving plan, including intersections with renewed campus master planning and what I hope to be an imminent public comprehensive campaign for the University.

As strategic planning gains momentum, I have asked Dr. Tom Murray, interim provost, and Dan Burkey, senior vice president for Operations, to help us as a University community assess our resources. In doing so, they will begin leading efforts on a component of the fifth planning theme, Stewarding Our Resources. Early next week, Tom and Dan will provide an update regarding the aspects, opportunities, and issues of resource stewardship.

Finally, and regarding two upcoming events, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will be remembered during the many campus activities planned for the week of Jan. 14-19. A complete listing can be found at creighton.edu/mlk.

Also, “Dear World Live” will occur in the Skutt Student Center Ballroom on Thursday, Jan. 26, from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. with an open photo shoot, and conclude with a storytelling event from 7-8 p.m. The interactive, award-winning program explores the subtle and powerful connections among students, faculty, and staff on college campuses, as well as impoverished countries suffering from war and other devastating conditions.

The Division of Student Life will release additional information regarding how you can participate in “Dear World Live” very soon on its Facebook page and through additional social media.

I look forward to seeing you around campus at one of the many events planned for the spring semester.

Sincerely,

Rev. Daniel S. Hendrickson, SJ
Congratulations to our 2016 Faculty and Staff Service Honorees!

Join us in celebrating our colleagues being honored for their years of service in 2016. The Service Award Celebration is scheduled for March 21, 2017, from 3:30-5 pm. More information on the ceremony to follow!

Sustainability

Creighton is once again competing in Recyclemania. According to the website, “RecycleMania is a friendly competition and benchmarking tool for college and university recycling programs to promote waste reduction activities to their campus communities.” This year the competition runs February 5 – April 1. Help us increase our totals from last year and keep recycling!

Each year, we recycle close to 100,000 pounds (50 tons!) during the course of the competition.

What can be recycled?

- Paper products -- all types, including:
  - Office paper, copy paper, colored paper
  - Envelopes
  - Cereal boxes, paper packaging, etc.
  - Newspaper
  - Magazines, catalogs, and phone books
  - Cardboard -- Please break boxes down. Thank you!
  - Pizza boxes (no pizza bones!)
  - Coffee cups (no styrofoam)
- Clean plastic containers -- all types, including:
  - Empty water and pop bottles or cans (lids do not need to be removed)
  - Frozen food trays and plastic carryout containers
  - Plastic cups, cookie trays, etc.
- Metal containers -- all types

 Please note that all of these items must be clean and empty.
2016 Tree Campus USA

In December of 2016 Creighton University completed its application seeking a 9th year of recognition as a Tree Campus USA site. As part of the reporting required for this designation, tree plantings and removals are tracked. Following is a table summarizing 2016:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reason for removal</th>
<th>Number of Trees removed</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>New trees planted</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trees removed</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Removals replanted in 2016</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Net loss/gain of trees</td>
<td>-14</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The overall goal is to maintain or increase the number of trees on campus. However, replanting one-for-one is not always the best practice. For example, 14 of the trees removed in 2016 were not selected for replanting because the original tree was not correctly sited (i.e. was planted too close to a building), the area was too densely planted, a structure had been constructed on the site, or the site is not conducive to tree growth and maturation (i.e. an unirrigated island in a parking lot). In these cases, choosing not to replant is the best choice, as the tree would not be expected to grow to maturity or may damage campus structures.

The table below summarizes causes of the 2016 removals:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reason for removal</th>
<th>Number of Trees removed</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Storm Damage</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Disease/Pest (direct)</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Construction (direct)</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vandalism</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Structural instability</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Decline/Death</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Storms and high winds, diseases and pests like fire blight and bagworm, growing where a new structure is planned to be built, and vandalism are issues that directly and immediately result in tree death. Losses due to disease in 2016 were specifically attributed to fire blight (3) and Dutch Elm Disease (1).

Removals attributed to general decline and deaths are caused by a wide range of less direct and defined factors. Examples of these factors are:

- Indirect construction impacts, such as root compaction from vehicle/equipment traffic, storage of materials, and root damage due to trenching or digging.
- Cultural issues such as drought, winter injury, and poor drainage.

The effect of these types of damage to a tree is not immediate or obvious but instead occurs over several years following the damaging event. Often, more than one of these factors or events contributes to the tree’s gradual decline and eventual death.

It is expected that Creighton will again be awarded Tree Campus USA recognition for its 2016 application. Confirmation will come in April of this year.
VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITY

Faculty and Staff phone calling and note writing campaign:

Please consider volunteering to either write notes or make phone calls to undergraduate admitted students. This is an important activity that helps us to engage and recruit students. Many who have participated in the past have found the activity to be very rewarding. You will be provided advice on what to discuss during the call or sample content if you choose to handwrite notes. The project will begin this week through mid-February.
