Cortina Community
an intentional living learning community for 112 sophomores rooted in the service of faith and the promotion of justice

The community meets weekly to converse about topics ranging from human trafficking to social entrepreneurship. Community is further fostered through retreats, companions, small faith groups, and reflection.

The Cortina program at Creighton University seeks to:
1. Expose students to cultural and social realities locally, nationally, and globally.
2. Facilitate the development of relationships with those who suffer injustice, especially in the Omaha community.
3. Promote engagement with, learning from and respect of the poor.
4. Help students analyze and understand ethical perspectives on the nature of justice and the causes of injustice.
5. Promote personal and communal reflection on the faith that does justice.
6. Provide opportunities to act on behalf of justice.

JPS 215 - PHILTH 215
Students participate in four credit hours of classes for the program three in the fall in a philosophical or theological foundations of ethics course, to build an articulate vocabulary on building a just society. One is then spent in a Justice and Peace Studies seminar that focuses deep discussion on a single topic related to issues of injustice and inequality.
