

Prospect Hill Cemetery Project: Digital Humanities Opportunity

Want to get involved in a start-up Digital Humanities project? Come help us digitize and analyze burial records and genealogical data for Prospect Hill Cemetery (which is just north and a little west of Creighton's campus). For advanced students, additional independent research opportunities are available as well. Please contact Brian Kokensparger (bkoken@creighton.edu) to learn more about this project and find out how you can get involved. We have skill-appropriate roles for students from freshman through graduate levels.
