Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm an English graduate and freelance editor with multiple years of experience, and I'm interested in applying for the position of copywriter at Buildertrend. In my time as an English major at Creighton, I developed an interest in copywriting and how quality and clarity are key when trying to persuade a reader. I believe my values align with Buildertrend, as I appreciate the communication and cooperation cloud-based services allow for any field. Buildertrend's commitment to customer support tells me that it's somewhere I could use my skills to help leave clients satisfied with your services.

My professional experience has mostly been focused on editing, but I've worked across a variety of mediums. I have written and edited within an academic setting throughout university, as well as for a book publication, web, and even a game script. My work with Second Shrine Games involved not only fiction editing, but web-based copywriting for community management akin to writing for brands. Multimedia has always fascinated me, and copywriters will always be an important part of marketing and communication no matter the medium. I understand this, and my dedication to writing across multiple mediums makes me an excellent fit for copywriter.

Buildertrend would benefit from hiring me as a copywriter because I'm skilled at communicating with written word. I have a strong critical eye and have always had a knack for catching text errors, especially when it comes to grammar and syntax. I can guarantee quality writing in your content. This goes for not only myself, but other writers on the team. My experience with editing has given me the opportunity to work with fellow writers and offer critical feedback, allowing for an improved final draft of their content. Therefore, I would be a valuable addition to the team.

As I have argued, my skills and values align with what you are looking for in a copywriter; I have both writing and editing experience and cherish customer satisfaction, as well as the benefits of using cloud-based software. Thank you for your time and consideration, and I look forward to hearing back and learning more about Buildertrend.

Sincerely,

Maribel Rose
