LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Rev. Daniel S. Hendrickson, SJ, PhD

President, Creighton University

Dear Creighton University Graduate,

Congratulations on reaching this remarkable milestone. It is the culmination of a journey marked by hard work, embracing meaningful experiences, and the forming of skills and relationships that will guide you into the next chapter in your personal and professional life.

Commencement is an incredibly special time, and it is yours to cherish in the company of your family, friends, and supporters. As a Creighton graduate, you carry the hopes and dreams of those who have supported you as well as the legacy of others who have come before you. I am proud to count myself among the many individuals who have watched you embrace the challenges of higher education and become all the stronger and more compassionate because of it.

There is much to look forward to, but for today I encourage you to reflect on all that has brought you to this moment. Your academic rigor, service to the community, and commitment to a better world place you among the select few who have dared to pursue academic and professional excellence with courage and heart.

During your time at Creighton, you embraced the unknown and stepped out of your comfort zone. You forged new connections, explored unfamiliar places, and, most importantly, pursued truth in all its forms. I challenge you to carry forward that spirit of exploration and hold with you the lessons of your Jesuit, Catholic education as you mature into the leaders the world needs.

As you join the Creighton alumni family of more than 80,000, remember that the change you want to see in the world will not simply appear. It is your responsibility to seek it out with clarity of purpose and fullness of soul. Keep pursuing truth, embracing discomfort, and creating change, not just as a graduate, but as a Creighton graduate.

May God bless you and your family as you celebrate today. You have earned this moment, now it is time to continue your journey with courage and conviction, knowing you will be a Bluejay, always.

Sincerely,

Rev. Timothy R. Lannon, SJ, EdD
Superior of the Omaha Jesuit Community
Former Creighton University President

Catherine L. Hughes

Founder and Chairwoman of Urban One, Inc.

Catherine L. Hughes, HON'06, is a media pioneer, serving as founder and chairwoman of Urban One, Inc., the largest African American-owned, diversified media corporation in the nation. Through its subsidiaries, it reaches more than 80% of the African American media market: Radio One, with over 55 broadcast radio stations; TV One and CLEO-TV, two cable television networks; Reach Media, Inc., a syndication company that produces the "D.L. Hughley Show" among others; iOne Digital, a digital platform that offers social content and entertainment; and One Solution, a cross-platform marketing company.

Hughes' humble beginnings in Omaha, Nebraska, including time as a student at Creighton University, where her father was the first African American in the University's history to earn an accounting degree, fueled her ambition to empower African Americans to tell their stories.

She began her radio career locally at KOWH-AM, an African American-owned station, before moving to Washington, D.C., in 1971 to become a lecturer in Howard University's School of Communications. As general sales manager at the university's radio station, WHUR, she increased revenue from $250,000 to $3 million in her first year, eventually becoming the first woman vice president and general manager of a station in the nation's capital.

In 1980, Hughes purchased her flagship station, WOL-AM, and served as morning show host for 11 years. In 1999, she became the first African American woman to chair a publicly held corporation and, along with her son and business partner Alfred Liggins III, grew Radio One into an urban radio market leader with more than 60 stations nationwide in hip hop, R&B, gospel and talk formats. It was the first African American radio company in history to dominate several major markets simultaneously, making Hughes the first woman to own a radio station ranked number one in a major market. TV One would follow in 2004 and Interactive One, now iOne Digital, in 2007.

Hughes has earned hundreds of prestigious awards and recognitions that include induction into the National Association of Broadcasters Broadcasting Hall of Fame and American Advertising Federation Hall of Fame; the Lowry Mays Excellence in Broadcasting Award; the naming of the Cathy Hughes School of Communications at Howard University and Cathy Hughes Boulevard in Omaha; the ADCOLOR Lifetime Achievement Award; the Congressional Black Caucus Foundation Chair's Phoenix Award; the NAACP Chairman's Award; and the Giant of Broadcasting Award, among others.

She is also a longtime philanthropist and champion for the homeless; a mentor to countless women; an advocate for minority communities; and a fierce proponent of education, including serving as a member of Creighton University's Board of Trustees since 2020 and supporting The Piney Woods School in Mississippi, which was established by her grandfather in 1901 and is the longest standing independent boarding school in the United States for African American students. Creighton previously awarded Hughes an honorary degree in 2006.

J. William (Bill) and Ruth L. Scott

Friends of Creighton University

J. William Scott, a lifelong Nebraskan who passed away in 2024, started as Warren Buffet's first employee. Following his retirement, Bill and Ruth L. Scott, his wife of 73 years, dedicated their lives to charitable giving.

With their children, the Scotts have made a generational impact at Creighton and across Nebraska. The family has given hundreds of millions of dollars to more than 160 local and statewide organizations.

Growing up on a farm north of Ashland, Nebraska — where she met Bill when she was 8 — Ruth read by the light of a kerosene lamp in a house that didn't receive indoor plumbing until she was 12. Ruth started her career in education, teaching kindergarten and first grade. When Bill was not searching corporate reports for undervalued companies, he was leading one of Omaha's popular polka bands, The Polonairs.

Bill and Ruth's humble beginnings and love for their home state have translated into far-ranging support for not only Omaha and Lincoln but dozens of rural towns across Nebraska, supporting education, healthcare, research, housing, childcare and community centers alike. Ruth says that she and Bill have "gotten maximum enjoyment from our philanthropy."

At Creighton, the Scott family has supported University operations, scholarships and facilities, including the construction of the Ryan Athletic Center, McDermott Center, the Rasmussen Center, the School of Dentistry, and the CL and Rachel Werner Center for Health Sciences Education.

This year, Ruth and her son, Don Scott, made the lead gift to the future sports performance facility, The Bill. The Bill is taking shape next to The Ruth, the practice facility the volleyball team chose to name after her. Through support of such facilities, as well as scholarships, Ruth's passion for volleyball has left an indelible mark on women's athletics — at Creighton and throughout Nebraska.

Valerie B. Ackerman, JD

Commissioner of the BIG EAST Conference

Valerie B. Ackerman, JD, was named the fifth commissioner of the Big East Conference on June 26, 2013. She was the founding president of the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) and is a past President of USA Basketball, which oversees the U.S. men's and women's Olympic basketball program.

She is an inductee of the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame (2021), the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame (2011), the New Jersey Hall of Fame (2021) and the Sports Broadcasting Hall of Fame (2023).

While at the helm of the BIG EAST, she has presided over the rebirth of the conference as one of the premier conferences in college basketball, with ten of the league's 11 men's basketball programs, including Creighton, receiving NCAA tournament bids since 2013–14.

Conference initiatives launched under Ackerman's leadership include the annual BIG EAST Student-Athlete Well-Being Forum, which provides programming on a wide range of student-athlete mental and physical health and wellness matters; a career networking event for students from all BIG EAST schools; meetings of member school provosts and admissions and development officers; the BIG EAST Investment Summit; and the BIG EAST Research Poster Symposium, an undergraduate academic competition.

She attended the University of Virginia as one of the school's first female student-athlete scholarship recipients. She graduated with high distinction with a degree in political and social thought in 1981 and played one year of professional basketball in France before earning a law degree from UCLA in 1985. She received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Providence College in 2021.

Ackerman started her legal career as a corporate and banking associate and joined the National Basketball Association as a staff attorney in 1988. She was as an executive at the NBA for eight years before being named the WNBA's first president in 1996. She guided the league to a much-heralded launch in 1997 and headed its day-to-day operations for its first eight seasons.

In 2005, she was elected president of USA Basketball for the 2005–2008 term, leading the organization to gold medal performances by the U.S. men's and women's basketball teams at the 2008 Olympics in Beijing. She is currently a member of the NCAA Women's Basketball Oversight Committee and is an advisor to the Vatican's Sport at the Service of Humanity initiative.

Ackerman is on the board of directors of the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame and is a Life Trustee of the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, which presented her with the John Bunn Lifetime Achievement Award in 2008. She assisted in 2011 in formulating a long-term plan to support women's ice hockey, and the NCAA, for which she prepared a comprehensive white paper in 2013 on growth strategies for women's college basketball.

Ackerman's accomplishments in the sports business have earned her numerous awards, including induction into the GTE Academic All-America Hall of Fame; the Girl Scouts of America National Women of Distinction Juliette Award; the Women's Basketball Coaches Association President's Citation; the International Olympic Committee Women and Sport Achievement Diploma; the Sports Business Journal Champions in Sports Business Award; and inclusion as a Women's Sports Foundation/ESPNW 40 for 40 Honoree.

She is married to Charlie Rappaport, a retired tax partner of Simpson Thacher & Bartlett. They have two adult daughters, Emily and Sally, and a daughter-in-law, Sunday Helmerich.

Tricia M. Ross, PhD

Assistant Professor of Modern Languages and Literatures, College of Arts and Sciences

Since 1970, the Creighton Students Union has awarded the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Award for Teaching Achievement to a professor who exemplifies true excellence in teaching, inspires students and represents the University's highest standards. Each year, students from all nine colleges and schools nominate professors they consider exemplary educators.

Nominees must demonstrate high competence in their fields and present subject matter in interesting and effective ways. Beyond teaching aptitude, nominees must inspire, serve and take interest in students as individuals.

The Creighton Students Union is pleased to recognize Tricia Ross, PhD, assistant professor of Modern Languages and Literatures and a faculty member in the College of Arts and Sciences Honors Program, as the 2026 recipient of the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Award for Teaching Achievement.

Dr. Ross earned her bachelor's degree in history from the University of Scranton and her master's in European and Russian studies from Yale University. She completed her doctorate in history at Duke University, specializing in early modern Europe, intellectual and cultural history, science and medicine, and religion. She won a Fulbright Research Award to Germany while preparing her dissertation on the relationship between early modern medicine and religion.

She holds deep knowledge of religion and science and is passionate about teaching. As one student notes, "Dr. Ross shows up every day excited to teach." She fosters learning by encouraging curiosity and engaging students in small-group discussions. "Her engaging lectures and creative teaching methods spark passion for her course content in students across all disciplines," says another student.

Dr. Ross says she is thrilled to teach and learn about historical topics that she believes are important "in order to understand how and why the world is as it is, and from this to talk with students about what we can do to act best in it."

She adds: "What I most enjoy is the sheer privilege of being able to walk beside and encourage students who are so curious, so compassionate and so committed to seeking truth and justice."

Dr. Ross distinguishes herself with a student-centered pedagogy, outstanding commitment to students' needs and active participation in the Catholic, Jesuit mission of the University.

Several students praise Dr. Ross as an exceptional scholar, inspiring professor, devoted mentor and brilliant representative of Creighton and its mission.

According to another one of her students, Dr. Ross clearly lives the Jesuit value of being a woman for others, supporting students by volunteering for Campus Ministry's Fall Adventure Retreat, serving in the Discernment Series and speaking at an Agape Latte event.

Students consistently note Dr. Ross embodies cura personalis, investing in students' well-being and developing meaningful relationships by generously giving her time to encourage, guide and listen.

"Dr. Ross seems to want nothing more than to give time, attention and advice to the many, many students who see her as a mentor," notes a student.

Dr. Ross embodies the qualities of commitment to scholarly excellence, student engagement and dedication to student development and mentorship, making her a model recipient for this award.

Academic Attire

Academic regalia dates to the earliest — and coldest — universities. During the Middle Ages, scholars at early English and European universities wore wool or fur garments to stay warm in drafty stone buildings.

The academic gown made its first recorded appearance at the University of Cambridge in 1284. The tradition crossed the Atlantic with King’s College in New York, now known as Columbia University, and took root in the United States.

By the late 1800s, representatives from American universities created the Intercollegiate Code for Academic Costumes to standardize academic dress. The system assigned meaning to the colors and designs of caps, gowns and hoods, allowing observers to recognize a graduate’s degree level and alma mater by their regalia.

Today, while gowns and hoods are no longer worn for warmth, they remain symbols of years of study and academic achievement. The hood is reserved for those who have earned advanced degrees beyond the bachelor’s level.

The colors

The colors used on gown trim, hood edging and cap tassels represent specific academic disciplines and professional fields. A few examples:

Arts and Humanities	Education	Philosophy
Science	Medicine	Dentistry
Business	Nursing	Law
Occupational Therapy	Pharmacy	Physical Therapy

The gown

Black is the traditional color for academic gowns. Sleeve styles vary by degree: bachelor’s gowns have long, pointed sleeves; master’s gowns feature oblong sleeves with slits at the ends; and doctoral gowns stand out with bell-shaped sleeves, velvet trim on the front and neck, and three velvet bars on each sleeve.

The cap

In the U.S., the most common graduation cap is the square, tasseled mortarboard. Master’s and doctoral graduates, along with faculty, often wear a soft cap or tam, a round velvet hat with a more traditional style. During the ceremony, graduates begin with the tassel on the right side of the cap and move it to the left after receiving their degree.

The hood

The hood is one of the most recognizable parts of academic regalia, showing both the wearer’s degree and the institution where it was earned. The lining reflects the school’s colors — white and blue for Creighton graduates — while the velvet trim represents the degree. At Creighton, bachelor’s candidates do not wear hoods. Master’s and doctoral candidates have theirs placed upon them during their ceremonies.

Traditions of Creighton

Creighton Seal

The Creighton University seal includes elements representing the Creighton family, Creighton's Jesuit tradition and the Omaha Archdiocese.

The gold stripes on the red field, in the upper left-hand quadrant of the shield, come from the family coat of arms of St. Ignatius of Loyola, the founder of the Society of Jesus (Jesuits). The lion rampant comes from the Creighton family coat of arms, and the three seashells on a field of white and red sable come from the Wareham family coat of arms—paying homage to Creighton University's founding families. The design for the shield's final quadrant, in the lower left, comes from the coat of arms of the Archdiocese of Omaha. The starburst behind the shield comes from the seal of the Society of Jesus.

Ceremonial Mace

In the Middle Ages, the mace was a club used in battle and carried by a bodyguard to defend a person of authority. Over the years, it began to lose its warlike image and became a symbol of peaceful leadership.

At an academic institution, the mace is the symbol of the legal and chartered authority of the leadership to whom the board of trustees has delegated authority. When the ceremonial mace is present, the authority of the University is present. Use of the mace is reserved for occasions of outstanding importance, and it is an honor to bear the mace.

The Creighton University mace was designed and fashioned by Brian K. Besack, operations supervisor of the University's carpenter shop, at the invitation of then president, the Rev. John P. Schlegel, SJ, to commemorate the 125th anniversary of the University.

Using a cherry wood baluster from a long-abandoned staircase in the attic of Creighton Hall, the oldest building on Creighton's campus, Besack designed and fashioned the shaft, head and foot of the mace. Each facet of the nine-sided head displays a bronze, gold-plated medallion bearing the name and founding date of the University's schools and colleges. Its foot is sheathed in gold-plated brass, and cradled in its shaft rests the official seal of the University. At its top, the mace is crowned with a three-dimensional blue and gold medallion symbol of the Society of Jesus.

Graduation Honors — Students may graduate with honors. Criteria for graduation honors can be found in the Creighton University catalogs. Honors for students with previously conferred degrees are listed in this program. Honors for students with May degrees met the honors criteria based on Fall 2025 cumulative grade point averages. Official honors will be awarded on the transcript and diploma based on Spring 2026 cumulative grade point averages. Honors for students who anticipate completing their degree requirements in August or December are not listed in this program. Honors will be awarded on the transcript and diploma at the time of degree conferral.

Degree Conferral — Creighton University confers degrees three times per year: August, December, and May. Annual University commencement ceremonies are held in May for all Colleges and Schools. The hooding ritual is included in the commencement ceremony for master's- and doctoral-level students. An additional graduate level commencement ceremony is held in December. Students who complete their degree programs in August or December may attend the commencement ceremony following completion, or with the approval of the Office of the Dean, in the preceding May. Participation in a commencement ceremony does not guarantee a degree is officially earned. A degree is conferred only after the dean verifies all academic requirements are met and the degree is posted on the student's transcript by the Office of the Registrar.

Edward Creighton

Mary Lucretia Creighton

John Creighton

Sarah Emily Creighton

History of Creighton University

Edward and Mary Lucretia Creighton, along with Edward's brother, John, settled in Omaha in the 1850s. John married Mary Lucretia's sister, Sarah Emily Wareham, in 1868, and the four are considered the founders of Creighton University. Edward's work with the transcontinental telegraph and freighting, ranching, railroading and banking became a major force in the city's economic development. The two brothers were widely known for their business enterprises, and the two couples were also widely regarded for their philanthropy.

Edward died in 1874, and his widow included $100,000 in her will to establish Creighton College in memory of her husband. Mary Lucretia died in 1876, and her executors, who included her brother-in-law John, purchased 6.2 acres of land at the northwest corner of what is currently 24th and California streets. The land and additional securities were transferred to Bishop James O'Connor of Omaha, and construction began on the school.

The bishop asked the Jesuits to operate the school and the first president, Roman A. Shaffel, S.J., arrived in Omaha in late 1877; the school opened on Sept. 2, 1878. One priest, two scholastics, a layman and a laywoman formed the faculty. The school began with 120 students ranging in age from 6 to 30. On Aug. 14, 1879, Bishop O'Connor surrendered his trust to the Jesuits, who incorporated "The Creighton University" under Nebraska law. Much of the initial teaching was below the collegiate level; in 1891, Creighton University awarded its first baccalaureate degree.

Edward and Mary Lucretia's generosity is credited with establishing Creighton College, while John and Sarah Emily's philanthropy enlarged it to a five-school university. Today, Creighton University consists of nine schools and colleges:

- College of Arts and Sciences (1878)
- School of Medicine (1892)
- School of Law (1904)
- School of Dentistry (1905)
- School of Pharmacy and Health Professions (1905)
- Heider College of Business (1920)
- Graduate School (1926)
- College of Nursing (1971; four-year bachelor's degree program began in 1958)
- College of Professional and Continuing Education (Established as University College in 1983)
